DEDICATION

To all our mothers and fathers
We pledge ourselves today.
Their minds and hearts have guided us
Along life's difficult way.
Patience, kindness, and understanding
Are qualities they possess,
And to their endless efforts
We attribute our success.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

CLASSMATES:

Our four years have gone by quickly, but they have not left us empty handed. We have acquired enduring friendships and lasting memories within the walls of Enfield. As we think of these years, we will recall the honor, dignity, and pride bestowed upon us at Enfield.

What success will the future hold for us? No one knows, but whatever barriers may arise, the principles and ideals instilled in us by our faculty will help us meet these challenges. While we strive to attain our goals, let us remember the rules of honesty, respect, and fairness to others taught to us at Enfield.

To those who made it possible for us to receive this worthwhile training, our parents, teachers, and friends, we express our deep gratitude for their kindness and patience.

In the future we will recall each other often and remember the pleasant school life of which we have all been a part. May we be successful and may God guide and help all of us of the Class of '53.

CLASS PROPHECY

"Fasten your seat belts," said the lovely stewardess, Miss LUCILLE ARATTI, as the rocket ship was about to land. Our rocket trip had been very comfortable, thanks to ROY ARSENAULT'S capable rocket ship operation, and the company of many of our high school friends talking over experiences of the past ten years.

Sitting together are two old friends of ours, Mr. EDWARD BLAKE a salesman for JOSEPH CERATO'S Royal Rug Co., and Mr. MITCHELL GREGORSKI, a salesman for SAM LORINO'S Super Sportswear, Inc.

Look at whom the stewardess is speaking to now! It's STATIA WOJCIESZEK, that well-known hair-stylist and CAROLE BUIKA, who is now traveling to the opening of one of the Modern Miss dress shops. The dresses, by the way, are designed by Nanci Pare.

Seated also on this rocket ship are Nurse CLAIRE KELLER who is touring the new city hospitals and MIRIAM DOWNTON, a bridal consultant, who is bringing the latest fashions from Paris.

Within a few minutes the rocket ship will land in Enfieldshire, U. S. A., so called because many of the Enfield graduates of the Class of 1953 have been successful in this city.

As we descend from the ship, we are greeted by Mr. GEORGE EVANS, president of the new Rockett Airlines, who provides us with a Sylvester Site-seeing Cab (EDDIE SYLVESTER'S, of course,) and we are off to tour Enfieldshire.

As we are traveling down the main boulevard, our well-informed guide, DOMINICK BOSCO, points out to us Mr. DONALD ZNAMIEROWSKI's Law Office with his zippy secretary, JUDY DAVIS, busy at work. Across the street we spot "Dot-tea's Sound-proof Gynasium," owned and operated by DOTTY KACZYNSKI with her able assistant, sharply CHARLOTTE DENGLE.

Next in sight is a large building with the office of GLORIA JONES, public accountant, and JOSEPHINE PILCH, bookkeeper, who employ those capable wizards JANE BOUDREAU, KATHERINE RICHARD, and SHIRLEY COLTON. In the same building is located the office of the Higgins Herald, edited by WILLIAM HIGGINS. The staff consists of BETTY ANNE AUGUST, the famous columnist, HAROLD SULLIVAN, art editor, and HAROLD TEECE, roving reporter.

There's the shop of Miss JOAN THOMPSON, Interior Decorator, and there's FRED TILDEN'S Bank, the Tilden Trust Co., with its drive-in teller service. A few of the busy tellers we recognize are EILEEN ANNIS, PAUL VAN HOUTE, and THERESA TOBEY.

Turning off the main boulevard we spot a huge neon sign. "Rinaldi's Macaroni Works" owned by our little FRANCES RINALDI.

At this point we decide to relax by strolling through the Enfieldshire Park which has been beautifully landscaped by our old friend, JOE CIES-ONES. Sitting down on a park bench are JOAN HODGINS and RUTH NOLL, two capable governesses for the children of those lovely housewives, JENNIE MIKLUSZKA and ROSEMARIE VESEE.

And there is CHARLIE JENKINS, the botanical doctor, examining the more delicate plants.

As we hear music coming from the newly erected high school, we decide to enter this building, recently constructed by (Francis) RYPYSC—(Victor) GONGOLA Engineering Co., that builds "Anything, anywhere, anytime." On our tour through the building we are delighted to be greeted by the Principal, BARBARA TWAROG, who renews our acquaintance with former classmates LOUISE ARCSEZEW-SKI, now a science teacher; MARIAN GOURLIE, the music supervisor; LORRAINE WOLODKO, head of the business department, and MARY ANNE WROBLEWSKI, a social civics teacher. As we are about to leave, the football coach, CARM SCALIA, extends an invitation to attend the annual Football Jamboree.

Our empty stomachs now beckon us to one of the most famous dining spots of Enfieldshire, Tallarita's Steak House, owned and operated by that dashing proprietor, PATRICK TALLARITA. Upon entering, we are escorted to a ring-side table by the charming hostess, Miss CONNIE ANGELICA. As soon as we are seated we hear the mellow tones of a handsome singing waiter, TONY TROIANO. He sings to us of the exquisite dishes prepared by the world famous chef, JOE "Giuseppi" KORONA.

While awaiting our dinner, we notice at a nearby table such distinguished citizens as RODNEY MIG-DOLL, the automobile dealer, dining with his "private" secretary, JUNE MARTIN, and Mr. THOMAS ZARCARO, the television executive, entering with his receptionist, Miss DORIS CHICKOSKY.

Our dinner arrives and as we dine, we admire the beautiful scenic oil paintings by the artist, JOAN BORYS. Suddenly the lights dim and we find ourselves being entertained by that witty Master of Ceremonies, TONY TORRE. He introduces the Three Nightingales, NANCY CARRIERI, MARY PLAMONDON, and BARBARA KING (more widely known as "Lizzy, Iggy, and Babsy"!) accompanied by that master-of-the-keyboard, MELANIE WALENTA.

After more than an hour of entertainment, we leave the Steak House and resume our tour. Our guide tells us that we shall now visit the new Town Hall, designed by that famous architect of the century, LELAND BERTRAND.

Approaching this splendid building, we find a great crowd gathered about a platform before the Hall. We join the throng and are very proud to see on the stand Admiral RICHARD DUNNE, President of the Coast Guard Academy WILLIAM TAIT, and the Mayor of Enfieldshire, JOSEPH SILVESTRI. Joe is presenting the Chief of Police, JACK KINNEAR, with a medal for bravery in the recent bank robbery. Taking pictures of this memorable event is JOYCE SMITH, a photographer with the Herald. This ceremony is also being televised through the efforts of GABRIEL KASPERZAK, working with the E.H.S. Television Station.

Endfieldshire also has a wonderful hospital not too far from the city limits. Knowing several of our friends are employed there, we decide to visit it. At the desk we are greeted by the supervisor of nurses, MISS MARIE BOURQUE, who escorts us to the children's ward where we see RUTH RYDER cheering her little patients whom Dr. ANN NEW-MARKER has just examined. As we are walking through the corridor, we hear over the inter-communication system "DR. FRED SCHOPEN wanted in surgery! Dr. Schopen wanted in surgery!" Soon we see nurse JOANNE CUNNINGHAM rushing down the hall to the operating room. But before we leave the hospital we must say hello to MARY DIGHELLO, one of the outstanding laboratory technicians here.

As our guide tells us that there are some very picturesque views along the country side, we're off to the country! Thanks to those three energetic farmers, EDDIE GRACZEWSKI, PHILIP MAROCHINI and WILLIAM ZYBURA, the cultivated land is a sight to behold.

Ahead we see two horseback riders. As we approach them we discover, to our amazement, that they are JOANNE GATTO and JANE OLSCHAF-SKIE now vacationing from their secretarial positions with the STEFANIAK Greeting Card Co. They are staying at the Bar-X Dude Ranch owned by MARY BOUDREAU and MARGARET SMITH.

On our return trip to the city, we spot a modern dairy bar—Fleming's Dairy Bar—where RICHARD FLEMING and his car-hops, CLAIRE FIELDS, ILENE BERNIER and ANNA URBANOWSKI, extend the best of service to us. With the ice cream we have a few of "Claire's Crunchy Cookies" from the company owned by none other than CLAIRE ZAWISTOWSKI.

Leaving the dairy bar, we hasten in order to be on time for the fashion show at Spring-Hill Gardens sponsored by the DOUGLAS GORDON Modeling Agency. Here we see the latest spring fashions modeled by BETH MICHAELS, MARY ANN POGGI, and PAULINE EVANS.

After a very pleasant tour reminiscing with old friends, we return to the airlines. At the switch-board, we enjoy our last few minutes talking to FRANCES KNIGHT.

So we again board the rocket ship where we are greeted by Stewardess AGNES BOLAND. We anticipate a comfortable trip home but hope to re-visit Enfieldshire soon.

WILL

Friends

It is good to have you present on this solemn occasion when our last wishes, arrived at in one of our rarer moments of clear thinking, are to be made known. If any question should arise, the subscribed witnesses may attest our sanity at the time the following depositions were made. It is to be expected that a "different" class like ours would have accumulated fantastic treasures and, since we feel that our wealth will benefit those who try to take our places, we therefore make the following bequests.

- ITEM I To our principal, Mr. Tatoian, we leave blessed peace, calm days and restful nights, undisturbed by the harrassing problems that we as a class have given him. But we ask him to remember that what today seem harrassing problems will one day be amusing tales to write in his autobiography.
- ITEM II To all the members of the faculty, who have never failed to be friends as well as advisors, we bequeath our heartfelt gratitude for help rendered us and our sincere apology for the unintentional troubles which we may have created.
- ITEM III To our successors, the Junior Class, we leave our prestige, our dignity and our seats in Room 26. In addition we bequeath to them the zest of competing for class honors, a taste of sorrow for those who don't quite make the grade and quiet pride for those who do.
- ITEM IV To the Sophomores, we have nothing to leave that would seem of value to them. What can we leave a class that has everything—brains, beauty and an inexhaustible supply of self-esteem. Right now they are enjoying that most enviable of all feelings, the assurance that the world is their apple, and a rosy one at that. All we can give them is our sincere hope that they can stand the shock when they discover, as they inevitably will, that even the most tempting looking apple can conceal a worm in its core.
- ITEM V To the Freshmen, bless their little hearts, we bequeath all our dreams that didn't come true, our resolutions that weren't fulfilled, our ambitions never achieved and the unequalled joy of giggling at nothing!

We, the Class of 1953, wish to distribute those precious gifts that are ours to give, our most admirable and distinctive qualities, among our successors. We trust that they will value these gifts as sacred tokens of a renowned and illustrious class. We do dispose of same as follows:

1. Joe Ciesones bequeaths his repertoire of witty jokes and all-round good humor to Jimmie McBride, funnyman of the Junior Class.
2. The team of Olschafskie, Kaczynski and Gatto leaves its sports equipment and winning tactics to all girls aspiring in this field of endeavor.
3. Marie Mancuso and Frances Duda inherit the combined wardrobes of stylish Beth Michaels and Lucille Aratti.
4. Marianne Poggi leaves her book "A Friend a Day" to any other newcomer who can make as many friends as she has in so short a time.
5. To Fred Jandreau and Miriam Auvine go flashbulbs from Joyce Smith and Fred Schopen with their sincere advice, "Don't wait till June for Year-book candid shots."
6. Joe Silvestri leaves his versatile athletic ability to Jerry Hannifin, who we believe is destined to be All-American.
7. We Seniors who, under the guiding hand of Mr. Nigro, have learned to conduct ourselves as ladies and gentlemen when passing to and from assemblies, class meetings, etc., generously bestow our docile manners on the Junior "ruffians," thus saving Mr. Nigro the stress and strain of another year of this gruelling process.
8. Joanne Cunningham leaves her sunny disposition and her dashing smile to Brenda Balke.
9. Anne Williams and Thomas O'Bram receive the musical ability of Marian Gourlie, Jennie Mikluska and George Evans. This ability added to what they already possess gives the prospect of a future symphony orchestra for Enfield.

10. Harold Sullivan wills megaphones to every underclassman who, for some strange reason, has as much trouble being heard as he does.
11. Melanie Walenta divides her business-like and executive traits equally between Flora Bunce and Lucille Spazzarini.
12. Mary Dighello bequeaths her precise and exact handwriting to Margaret Ann Scavatto with the warning, "Use this skill with extreme caution; the F.B.I. is an exceptionally alert organization!"
13. Gloria Jones' flexible ability to do almost anything well goes to anyone who can combine thinking with doing as she does.
14. Philip Marocchini and Dominick Bosco, our future farmers, leave their subscriptions to the "Farm Journal" to Millard Rolston and Wallace Simmons.
15. To Rosario Vella goes Joan Thompson's prowess as an artist but like a miser she takes her wealth of original ideas with her.
16. Nancy Carrieri leaves her giggles and constant flow of words to Gail Paré for making her classes a little more lively, if that's possible.
17. The boys of Miss Javorski's sixth period English class will their superb mastery of "ye olde English" to next year's class in hopes that they, too, will be able to get their tongues around it.
18. Concerta Angelica reluctantly leaves her popularity to that jaunty little freshman, Frances Bourque. We're sure she'll make the best of it.
19. To Evelyn Heath, Claire Keller wills her sweet manners and her willingness to help.
20. Ann Newmarker bestows her imaginative writing skill and flowing pen on Regina Brouillette, Shakespeare of the Junior Class.
21. Tony Troiano leaves a drum of oil, along with his superfluous pep and motto "It's the wheel that squeaks that gets the grease."
22. Each future student who occupies a seat in Study Hall receives a brand new ball and chain. These should replace the numerous detentions given our and thus, peace and quiet will reign supreme.
23. Rodney Migdoll leaves a path strewn with broken hearts in Enfield.
24. Margaret Smith bestows her love of horses and her expert equestrian traits on Louis Marocchini. Hmmm! Wonder if Louie will be a Derby winner some day?
25. Carmen Scalia bequeaths his adroit handling of the milk truck and his fondness for milk bottles to Kenneth Hurlburt who might revolutionize the dairy industry by discovering a method of recovering at least one ounce of milk from every supposedly empty bottle!
26. For a bright future, Ruth Ryder and Roy Arsenault leave their friendship and goodwill to all those fortunate enough to become acquainted with them.
27. Miriam Downton and Judy Davis bequeath their attractiveness to Alicia Richmond and Irene Wolodko; however, these heirs must at all times surround themselves with the same dignity and charm exemplified by their grantors.
28. William Tait, Victor Gongola, Jack Kinnear, Francis Rypysc and Donald Znamierowski leave their genius for compounding scientific excuses to all the other masterminds who use quick thinking and nimble tongues to their utmost advantage.
29. Maribeth Plamondon wills her fine, lilting soprano voice to Nanette Keery, songstress extraordinaire, while Agnes Boland bestows her petiteness on Patty Herron, Nanette's best friend.
30. To our teachers, to the underclassmen and to future students; to all who share and will share the love we feel for Enfield High School, we leave our solemn pledge of unwavering loyalty.

We do hereby appoint Mr. Tatoian sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In witness therof, we, the Class of 1953, set our hand and seal the eighteenth day of June in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-three.

Indications are a greater number of high school graduates are now enrolled in our colleges and universities than ever before in the history of our country. This is most encouraging, for it demonstrates a realization on the part of our youth, a desire to better equip themselves for the tasks that lie ahead.
